“I pride myself on knowing my clients’ business footprint completely,” says Herb, who provides accounting, auditing and tax consultation services for manufacturers, service companies, transportation companies and wholesale distributors, among other clients.

“I am the first person my clients turn to whenever a situation arises - good or bad,” he adds.

After joining DDK through a merger several years ago, this DDK partner also works with a number of high net worth individuals and provides audit, consulting, review and tax preparation services to a number of others.

His leisure activities include tennis, attending Broadway Shows and taking the occasional cruise, as well as actively supporting his grandkids, who play a number of sports. For many years, Herb served as a board member of the Solomon Schechter Day School of Suffolk County.
